

Dentons announces the promotion of 25 new partners

April 10, 2019

Dentons is pleased to announce the promotion of 25 new partners from the UK and Europe in the 2019 cycle. The new partners represent a range of practices, sectors and industries.

In the Netherlands, Pieter van Delden and Martin Daverschot have been appointed as partners, where they used to be "associate partners". Wendela Raas, Netherlands Managing Partner, states: "These appointments underline our strong real estate practice, which has continued to grow strongly since the merger with Dentons."

Pieter van Delden advises national and international parties on real estate transactions and project development. Pieter mainly acts for real estate investors and is also active in the hospitality and parking sectors.

Martin Daverschot is an additional notary specialized in complex real estate law structuring for new construction projects and renovations and advises on apartment law and limited rights. He is also involved in acquisitions and refinancing of large residential and commercial property portfolios.

Jeremy Cohen, CEO for the UK & Middle East region, said, "Our ambition is to become the leading global law firm across the European continent, which means delivering what our clients want today, helping them to work out what they are likely to need tomorrow, and responding to both by supporting our people, and particularly the next generation, to achieve their full potential. I am therefore delighted to congratulate this exceptionally talented group of lawyers on their well-deserved promotions."

"Dentons is in the talent business, so the development of this highly capable group of lawyers into our next generation of leaders is something we are extremely proud of," said Tomasz Dabrowski, CEO of the Europe region. "These promotions reflect not only the legal knowledge, leadership skills and business acumen of these lawyers, but also the organic growth of our Firm across the continent."
