Overview

Anida Zuko is an associate in our Real Estate practice group in Amsterdam. Her main focus is on (civil) construction law and project development. In particular, she advises and litigates on civil construction law and real estate related contract law.

Anida gives legal advice on issues related to large scale construction projects, such as disputes on completion, additional expenses, liability (of contractors and other advisors), and the right of retention. She also drafts legal documents and contracts for the development of (large scale) constructions projects based on various general conditions such as the UAV 2012, UAV-GC 2005 and the DNR 2011.

Experience

- Various clients: Drafting of complex contracts for the realization of large scale construction projects based on the UAV 2012, UAV-GC 2005 and the DNR 2011.
- Various clients: Representing clients in disputes on late completion of construction projects, additional expenses, liability, and other topics.
