

Overview

Private equity investors today face a markedly different landscape than just a few years ago. Our lawyers bring extensive experience and a practical, results-oriented approach to help private equity funds and their portfolio companies tackle some of their toughest challenges and achieve their objectives.

Dentons Boekel (formerly Boekel) provides private equity clients with corporate, M&A and financing advice on acquisitions and disposals of portfolio companies, as well as joint ventures. Drawing on the strength of our market-leading Real Estate and Restructuring, Insolvency and Bankruptcy practices, we also provide private equity investors with legal counsel and litigation support related to their real estate transactions and the restructuring of their portfolio companies.

As part of the world's largest law firm, we offer clients access to more than 200 lawyers advising on private equity transactions around the globe. Our global team offers the full range of private equity services including buyouts, secondaries, spin-outs, venture capital and fund formation, together with advisers in our leveraged and acquisition finance, competition, tax and regulatory practices.
