Overview

Sascha Kuit is a senior associate in Denton Boekel's Employment and Labor Law practice group. Before she started working for our Amsterdam office in 2001, she worked for the Immigration Service from 1995 until 1998.

Sascha is particularly involved in reorganizations, employee participation, and collective/individual dismissal issues. She has experience with legal issues related to the transfer of undertakings, harmonization of employment terms, works councils issues, cross border employment, and international social security. In addition, Sascha also has extensive experience with immigration matters such as work permits, business visa, residence permits and citizenship issues.

Her articles appear in specialist publications and newsletters, and she hosts talks, seminars and lectures at various educational institutes.
